Hill & Co. Real Estate Enhances Weekly Real Estate Newsletter

San Francisco, CA – May 1, 2017 – Hill & Co. Real Estate, a premier brokerage for San Francisco residential real estate, recently enhanced the weekly newsletter its agents can send to their clients via email. The newsletter is now more inviting and even more informative than before.

The newsletter is a proprietary product, developed by Hill & Co. Real Estate and web developer Dan Psomas. It is meant to be a quick read, however, content has been expanded a bit to report in greater depth on what is taking place in real estate across San Francisco, and to put current trends into historical perspective.

“We have been proud of this newsletter for years, and now it’s even better,” said Hill & Co. Real Estate President Jay Costello. “So much of the real estate news people see is national in scope, and of course what is taking place in San Francisco is very different. Our newsletter enables us to address that disconnect and really provide some valuable information to our clients.”

As before, those receiving the newsletter will be able to click on a "Weekly Sales Map" link. This will take them to a webpage with a one-of-a-kind feature that displays an interactive map showing what properties sold during the week. It includes property photos and pertinent transaction information for each sale.
